The overriding theme of this course will be Sustainability/Climate Change and how innovation can be used to reduce the effects of what is happening, as well helping to prevent and mitigate this phenomenon. During the course we will also be inviting experts in innovation to speak about their projects, as well as connecting you with the innovation and entrepreneurship ecosystem at UDD and in Chile.

The course will be delivered 100% online via a world class Learning Management System - Canvas, used by some of the world's top universities. In addition, we will be incorporating other innovative online teaching tools and platforms to make your learning experience even more memorable.
